“Creating Customized Literature”

André A. Lewis

André A. Lewis, is a veteran, air-line pilot, speaker, inventor and author. André is a graduate of the United States Air Force Academy, with a degree in Astronautical Engineering, and holds a Masters Degree in Business from Webster University. After serving his country in the Air Force for nine years, he became a pilot for a major airline.

He has worked with non-profit organizations for over 25 years inspiring children and families nationwide. Through his dynamic presentations, he has spoken to over 50,000 children and worked in over 30 school districts.

Living in the San Francisco area with his wife and three daughters, André founded Literary Engineers, LLC to create customized books and resources that targeted a myriad of important social issues. There are over 1,000,000 young people with access to his work. His goal is to provide organizations and government entities with the ability to create customized literature to educate and help communities.

Some of Our Critical Projects

Casper, WY - District required by law to have bullying policy in place 2009. Requested André in 2010 to take their 9-page legal document and bring it to life in a children's book so all children, adults, and staff could understand what bullying was about.

Natrona County - Recognizing the success of the No More Bullies book, the city leaders (Mayor, Chief of Police, School Board Pres, Superintendent, and City Manager) supported the creation of a book as a platform for police officers to discuss civic responsibility and being a positive role model in society.

Richmond, CA - Instead of the scared straight tactic, (Mayor, City Manager, & Director of Office of Neighborhood Safety), contracted André to create a book to educate the community on how they could decrease gun violence and reduce gang activity.

National Police Activities/Athletic Leagues (PAL) - Created a 140-page illustrated book to recognize 100th anniversary of the organization and provided them a tool to go into the community to help communicate the good that is done by police within our society.
